and Education for International Understanding

Living together: Mass Media and Intercultural Relations - As love is for all ages, friendship is for all nations

Izzat Eshboyev

TV Journalist,
National TV-Radio Company of Uzbekistan, Uzbekistan

The aim of this presentation is to develop a communicative approach on intercultural dialogue between the nations and ethnic groups. The topic of discussion is as follows: The State Policy of the Republic of Uzbekistan in the field of Intercultural Dialogue, some problems of intercultural dialogue in the region and in the world, and solutions to these problems. Also, this presentation examines the role of mass media to evaluate its goal of promoting intercultural dialogue and reflect on government's responsibility on the issue. The report is mainly framed around the impact of mass media; it presents the cultural and religious relations between other countries on mass media. At last, in terms of the education through mass media, I propose suggestions on how to improve the intercultural relations and to strengthen the international understanding.
